Where is that financial earthquake we were to have on the resumption of specie payment. After one month the public lebt has been decreased $3,000,000, and there is an increase of gold and silver in the treasury. What damage has been done to business interests? Will some Democrat or Greenbacker answer?

We are glad that our County Commisioners are making a move in the direction of a new Court-house. Lorsin deserves and can afford to pay for a good and safe building and we hope while we are at it we shall build one that is absolutely fire-proof. This will be true economy. We have $50,000 in the treasury now that can be devoted to this purpose and the balance can be raised without increased taxation. Let us all vote in favor of it when this question is presented next Spring for our decision.

The dairymen of Pittsfield after much deliberation have decided to run four factories in that township on the co-operative plan. Our faith in their success is not strong. Large factorics can be managed more economically than small, and the average farmer, however intelligent he may be in other matters has not the business experience or familiarity with the cheese trade to secure the best

The farmer has received more money for his dairy products on the plan adopted by our Wellington dealers than any other. Notwithstanding their fears and complaints farmers have received over six cents per pound for their choese net, which is a pretty good showing, better than that of any other system practiced Bereavement.

Three homes luvaded, and three chi dren taken in one week is very unusual in Wellington. "The air is full of farewells to the dying, And, mourning for the dead; The heart of Rachel for her children crying Will not be comforted."

The frailest child that brightens home awakens hopes of what it will in future years become, and it is impossible not to build as much upon what the children will be, as upon what they are; so that the loss is perpetual, and reaches through the coming years.

It is not only the little prattling boy of to-day who is lost, but his youth and manhood which had been unconsciously prophesled of him and depended

The bright little girl, cut down like a budding flower, had given already a foreshadowing of what she would be as maid and woman, and the longer the children are spared and the more they are objects of special care, the more intimately do they grow into and become special care, the more intimately do they grow into and become budding flower, had given already a

Every leaf and vine and flower that contributes to make more beautiful the quiet clay, or is wrought into touching device to relieve the stern liarshness of death, is sacred to those who mourn; and it can never be put into words just how grateful to sore hearts are these delicate and voluntary ministrations.

Pure white lilies, sweet heliotrope, graceful smilax, unobtrusive buds and pale blossoms are fit emblems of lives unsoiled, and of our mortality.

Circumstances of the last two months to which I referred in a late letter, having passions to tatters," especially the elder Townsend who acted Richard III, seems to have taken his ideal tyrant from Nick Bottom in the "Midsummers Night's Dream." Will move storms. My chief humor is for a tyrant. I could play Ereles rarely or a gain uppermost in the press and public mind the press and public mind. lic mind, the statements of the various companies which January, as usual, brings forth, are once more objects of interested study and comparison. On the whole they show that the leading companies have held their own very encouragingly, and a few of them have even made considerable additions to their surplus. In one case, that of the Etna of Hartford, this increase amounts to almost a million of dollars net for the year. Of course this is exceptional, but it shows what honesty and persistent conservatism of management will do even in the most unpropitious times.

This was loftly! This is Ercles' vein, a tyrant's vein." There was entirely too much false thunder in his style. The veritable Richard, if he could have been surprised to see himself act so and hear himself talk thus; and the immortal bard of Avon himself, if he had been present, would doubtless have served the actor, as St. Peter is represented to have served Scu'hy, in Byron's "Vision of Judgment."

Thus will it be seen, Mr. Editor, how "great intellects atrike together.' At any rate it shows that we are of one the whole they show that the leading

Spring Elections

In every village and township in Ohio where the Democratic organization is in a clear majority that organization runs a strict party ticket. In the three Demo-cratic townships of this county, Avon, Amherst and Carlisle this is the rule. In the Democratic strongholds of Columbus Bucyrus, Crestline, Galien and others of like importance, the rule is never de-parted from. By it, party supremacy is best maintained. Majorities are kept up to the maximum standard. If a party ticket should be put in the field at a county or State election it is hard to tell why not at the municipal and township elections. In the last fall's canvass the Republicans believed and struggled very manfully to uphold that belief, that a paper currency convertible into, and redeemable in gold and silver.

was demanded by every consideration of commercial honesty and governmental integrity. In this position they were sustained by every writer on political economy the world over for the last hundred years. They were sustained by the wisdom of ages, and the experience of all time therein. Yet upon that seemingly impregnable position they were met by a most determined, persistent and unscrupulous opposition, in the face of which they were enabled to just barely carry the state by a majority so small we lush to name it. One of the first efforts in every can vass is to close up the ranks. Party lines have not been drawn here at any but Fall elections, therefore party fealty is lax and party interests flag.

If we believe our doctrines then we should uphold them at the polls. It is there that political principles are most effectually proclaimed. It is there that dividing lines are drawn. If men believe in the principles of a political or-ganization there is the place to put for-ward a good and true man who represents these principles and his triumph is the triumph of the principles.

The conflict of last year in some form

The Democratic party is hostile to resumption because it is not a Democratic measure, and if Democrats have ever prayed, their most fervent petitions have gone up that the measure wise and good as we all conceive it to be, may break down. Its success is so assured of good results that demagogues are alarmed at the growing symptoms of popular favor for the measure ms of popular favor for the measured its originatore. and its or

Their action in State Legislature, in Congress and elsewhere point us to the fact that the battle is to be renewed. Then let the Republicans of Wellington, get ready to bear their part therein manfully. The time was when we had a sure majority of over 300 here. We can win that back again by working for it. The way to work for it is to keep intact party organization and begin in April to work for that end; in April to find the position of the foe so that in October we shall have him in sure range. As a private in the ranks, we call upon our party leaders to move in this matter. The wise and judicious thing is what is desirable. We pulcious thing is what is desirable. We believe in Republican principles therefore we propose to uphold them by striving honorably to get the most voters to endorse them. We believe Democratic strategy is sound in this. We propose to imitate it by running a party ticket at our local elections. If there is a good conditional content of the content of and true man who sympathizes with us and helps us win victories, and there is a place to be filled suited to him, we propose that he fill it. Oberlin, Ohio, Feb. 7th, 1879.

From all parts of the country reports come of the immense sales and increasing demand for that deservedly popular Sewing Machine, The Old and Reliable "Standard," the price of which the proprietors wisely reduced to $20 including all the attachments, and at once secured for them a popularity among the people, far beyond that attained by any other machine at any price, the consequence of which is, agents are leaving the old high priced machines, and seeking territory for the "Standard." Knowing from experience that with the best goods at the lowest price they can outsell all other machines, where the superior quality and low price is made known. This splendid machine combines all the improvements. Is far ahead of all others in beanty and durability of its work, case of management, light running and certainty of operation, is sensibly made upon sound principles, with positive working parts all steel, and can be safely put down as the very perfection of a serviceable sewing machine, in every particular, that will outlast any machine, and at a price far down below any other. It is thoroughly warranted for five years. Kept in order free of charge. And sent to any part of the country for examination by the customer before payment of the bill. We can predict equally as large a demand for them in this section as in others. Families wishing the best machine manufactured should write direct to the Factory, and enterprising persons wishing to seize the chance should apply for so desirable an agency.
